

RELIGION GROUND- WORK OF LIBERTY PRESIDENT SAYS

Coolidge Addressed Con- vention of Episcop- al Church Today

Washington, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Addressing the general convention of the Episcopal church here today, President Coolidge proclaimed religion to be necessary for the continuation of American government and the maintenance of those liberties and privileges which are characteristic of American life.

"We can not remind ourselves too often," the Chief Executive said, "that our right to be free, the support of our principles of justice, our obligations to each other in our domestic affairs, and our duty to humanity abroad, the confidence in each other and economic relations and finally the fabric of our government itself, all rest on religion."

"If the bonds of our religious convictions become loosened, the guarantees which have been erected for the protection of life and liberty and all the vast body of rights that lie between are gone."

The present convention and other similar organizations were taken by Mr. Coolidge as evidence that "the major forces of the world are actively and energetically engaged in promoting the spiritual advancement" of humanity.

World Grows Better

"When," he continued, "we remember further that this movement is steadily advancing through the years, we realize that it provides a complete and devastating answer to the indifferent, the cynic and the pessimist. We cannot doubt that the world is growing better."

Mr. Coolidge warned his audience that America's influence in spreading its faith abroad will be largely dependent upon its conditions at home.

In this country, the Chief Executive said, conditions which require constantly increasing efforts for their betterment. The problem of the training of the youth of the nation," he said, "is one that is now and will be forever recurring. In spite of our great school system, our secondary institutions, our colleges, and our universities, many of our young people are still growing up with the most meagre advantages of education. There are large settlements of people in our great centers of population still living under foreign conditions. Although they are dwellers within our borders, they have never really come into the United States."

Many Indifferent

"We have provided by our institutions for a genuine method of self-government, but there are many of our people who, through indifference or inability, are not receiving the full benefits of such a system."

Declaring that while the government does all it can to remedy what evils exist in society, the President expressed the view that laws do not alone meet the problem of human existence or furnish a sufficient foundation for human progress.

North Dixon Youth May Receive Reward

Because of his presence of mind and quick thinking, Allen Taylor, north side high school student, may receive a portion of the reward paid by the War department for the capture of two deserters from Fort Sheridan. Sheriff Ward Miller has taken the matter up with Kane county authorities, who took the pair of deserters in custody Sunday morning after Taylor had confided his suspicions to a deputy sheriff whom he met in a filling station west of Geneva. The pair were accommodated when they asked Taylor for a ride, as he was driving to Chicago Sunday morning, after they had abandoned a Ford coupe which they stole Saturday evening from the streets of Decatur and drove to Dixon, heading toward Chicago.

Advance Meeting

Louisville, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith's address at the Jefferson county armory Saturday night will start at 7 o'clock instead of 8:30 as previously announced, according to Earl D. Hale, chairman of the publicity committee for the meeting. He said the change in time was made to permit the speech to be broadcast over one of the largest hook-ups ever made.

WHAS of this city will be the key station of the chain. The speech then will be transmitted to between forty-eight and fifty-four other stations.

Earl Larkin of Beloit spent the week-end visiting his parents. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Larkin.

STYLE SHOW TO BE GIVEN THIS EVE AT THEATER

Fall Fashion Revue is Presented by Dixon Merchants Tonight

All arrangements for the Fall Fashion Revue of the Dixon merchants have been perfected and tonight and tomorrow night at the Dixon Theater will witness one of the best shows of its kind ever seen in Dixon. Director Flint of Chicago has been here for several days working with the merchants and getting everything in shape for the big opening night. Manager Rorer has provided a picture, one of the big six pictures of the season; and a good bill of vaudeville will furnish high class entertainment.

The participants of the Revue are showing some very fine gowns and clothing. The models are each expert in the line of modeling. The music will be catchy and inspiring.

The Revue will consist of three scenes, a bridge party of the opening, followed by a street scene and closing with a ball room scene. During these scenes the models will be shown off to a good advantage.

The first rehearsal was held Tuesday afternoon and everything moved off in perfect order.

The Revue is sponsored by the Retail Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Hoover's Visit to N. Y.

City Expected to Help Cause

BY JAMES L. WEST

(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Washington, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover turned his attention today to the situation in New York state, calling into conference Charles D. Hilles, National Committeeman, and Edmund Machold, State Chairman, for a thorough-going survey of conditions.

Aside from the drive for the 45 electoral votes of the home state of his Democratic opponent, Alfred E. Smith, the Republican presidential candidate is evincing a lively interest in the success of the state ticket as well as the party candidates for the Senate and House of Representatives.

There are evidences that the Republican party managers are welding the organization there into a more cohesive group and that a more intensive campaign will be waged both up-state as well as in the metropolitan area during the four weeks before election day.

Speech Will Help

Hoover has been told that his own visit to New York City a week from next Monday will be of benefit in this drive.

Arriving in New York at 8 o'clock on the morning of October 22, the Republican standard bearer will establish his headquarters at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where he will devote much of the day to conferences with New York leaders as well as those from Connecticut and New Jersey.

The nominee has not yet turned his thoughts to the subject matter of the address he will deliver at Madison Square Garden that night, as he is putting in all his spare time on his Boston speech next Monday night. In that he will discuss both foreign trade and the tariff and if the time remains he will also talk about the development and maintenance of an adequate merchant marine.

The New York rally will be the largest of the three arranged for the east and the meeting probably will consume the greater portion of two hours, with Charles Evans Hughes, former Secretary of State, and Republican presidential candidate in 1916, sharing the time with Hoover.

Boy Scouts Asked to Report Saturday

All Scouts who possibly can are urged to report at the Dixon airport on Saturday at 10:00 a. m. They will be on duty to guard the crowds and wherever else they will be needed. Come on Scouts here is your chance to show the people that you can do your part down here. The Scouts of Rockford answered the call recently on the tornado call so we want to show them that we are just as much on the job as they were. Wear your uniform so that the people will know who you are. Let's advertise the fact that we are willing to do our best in helping other people at all times. Remember your Scout Oath and be there. The time is 10 a. m. Saturday, Oct. 13th at the Dixon Airport. Be prepared.

FARMERS WARNED

The Lee County Farm Bureau has several men out selling farmstead minerals, but each man either has a Farm Bureau member with him or a letter from this office as credentials. Be sure you are dealing with our bonafide representative. It has been brought to our attention that a mineral salesman is calling on farmers telling them that he represents the Farm Bureau, when such is not the case.

GIRLS' STORIES SOLVED MURDER OF A YEAR AGO

Result in Father and An- other Being Held in Tucson, Ariz.

Burlington, Ia., Oct. 10.—(AP)—A story of violent death, sealed for a year behind the fear-locked lips of two little girls, is bringing their father and another man back from Tucson, Ariz., on murder charges.

It was on Huron Island in the Mississippi river that Oliver Shepler was killed last year. The slaying was on the farm of Jake Zippe, and Jake's daughters, Topsy and Vera, who told today of witnessing it, keeping the secret through the long months under threats of death.

On the basis of the girls' story, reinforced by other evidence, Sheriff Murray will leave tonight for Tucson to bring Zippe and Jonathan Hagan to face first degree murder charges.

Mrs. Clyde Moore of Keithsburg, Ill., an aged aunt of Zippe, told the sheriff what the girls had told her. "Poppy killed Shepler and buried him," Zippe's daughter had said.

Told of Slaying

Topsy, aged 7, told of the slaying several months ago while staying with a family named Patten in Keithsburg, the sheriff learned. Patten, however, said he was afraid to repeat the girl's story.

This was Vera's story of the slaying as related to her grand aunt: "Poppy loaded his revolver and Johnny took the shotgun and they came up and took hold of grandpa's car and pulled him into the shed. Pretty soon Poppy came back and said that if we wanted to see grandpa we should go out in the shed as 'we killed him.'"

Shepler's body was found last Thursday by three sons of August Zippe, brother of Jake. Zippe and Shepler, the sheriff said, were reputed to have been partners in a bootlegging enterprise. Shepler, twice convicted of shooting a policeman in Peoria, Ill., was wanted by Illinois authorities for violation of parole.

Death on Gallows

Nears for Hickman

San Francisco, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Death on the gallows seemed a certainty for William Edward Hickman today following rejection of his plea for an appeal to the United States Supreme Court and announcement by Governor C. C. Young that he will let the law take its course.

The Kansas City youth is under sentence to die October 19 at San Quentin prison for the kidnaping and murder of Marian Parker in Los Angeles last December.

Hickman's attorneys notified Warden James B. Holohan at the prison yesterday that there was no hope of obtaining permission to appeal the case to the highest court.

Governor Young said last night that only new evidence could induce him to commute Hickman's sentence.

BYRD AND MEN BID GOODBYE TO NATIVE SHORES

Sailed Today for So. Polar Expedition in Whaler Larsen

San Pedro, Cal., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Commander Richard E. Byrd and his little group of followers prepared to bid goodbye to the United States today as their final gesture before embarking on a long trek which will take them into voluntary exile in the Antarctic regions from one to three years.

The explorer, who left his mark in the Arctic by flying over the North Polar area, and who spanned the Atlantic by airplane in one of the most thrilling of transoceanic flights, will meet adventure at the nether end of the earth by essaying to "fill in the blank spaces on the map" of that region.

Aboard the staunch whaler C. A. Larsen, Byrd and his eager companions were ready to start at flood tide today for Dunedin, New Zealand, where their drive into the South Polar zone begins. Across the Pacific ocean they will follow three other vessels of the Byrd expedition, the Sir James Clark Ross, the Eleanor Bolling and the City of New York, already well on their way to distant New Zealand. All four of the ships carry great stores of supplies, including airplanes which Byrd will employ in his long exploration of the so-called greatest frozen area on earth. Eighty-two men will aid the daring plans of the Commander.

After its arrival here from New York via the Panama Canal yesterday, the Larsen was loaded with the last stores for the expedition. Sheep, cows, explosives, airplanes, polar transportation equipment and other important supplies rode in her hull today as she floated in the confines of the harbor when workmen had finished their task, 10,000 tons of these supplies had been stowed away.

Definitive plans called for the departure of the expedition at flood tide, which occurs about 7 P. M. central standard time.

Visited Hollywood

After supervising loading operations yesterday the Commander toured the Hollywood film colony with Mrs. Byrd, who is here to bid her husband good speed on his exploration ship. Despite the danger of the undertaking, she was calm and cheerful. Last night several of the party amused themselves at theaters, probably the last theatrical entertainment for them for many months.

As the Larsen slips past the breakwater, American Legion members, shipping craft, seafarers and citizens arranged to give the party a hearty farewell. The whaler will be escorted to the open sea by harbor vessels, and at sunset probably will have faded from view on the Pacific horizon.

Byrd's plans estimate his arrival at Dunedin about November 5 where the Larsen will join the three other ships. A month and a half later he hopes to penetrate a 200 mile ice barrier and be riding in the open stretches of the Ross Sea, approximately 1,000 miles from the pole. Somewhere in this area, his base of operations will be established.

Telegraphic messages expressing hopes of success were received by Commander Byrd from many friends and prominent countrymen on the eve of his departure.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

PENSION DISCONTINUED

Judge Leech in the county court this morning issued an order discontinuing the mother's pension issued to Mrs. Marie Rosenbaum of this city.

TWO CARS OF FLOWERS

Two carloads of cut flowers in express shipment made up a part of Northwestern eastbound train, No. 126 which passed through Dixon yesterday. The flowers were in shipment from the west to New York.

GET CARD FROM SON

Mr. and Mrs. John Nagle of Woonung were greatly relieved yesterday to receive a card from their son Daniel, who disappeared mysteriously seven weeks ago today. The lad wrote from Sacramento, Calif., saying that he was in good health.

FINED $25 AND COSTS

Mike Kazarian of this city paid a fine of $25 an costs when arraigned before Justice Martin J. Gannon last evening on a charge of breaking glass in the streets.

SPOKE IN SYCAMORE

Judge Harry Edwards and Circuit Clerk Edwin S. Rosecrans motored to Sycamore last evening where the former delivered an address at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of that city.

FOR WALGREEN BANQUET

Tickets for the Walgreen banquet given at 11:30 to 12:30 o'clock Saturday at the Elks Club are selling well. Reservations must be made by Thursday evening. This banquet is given to show Dixon's appreciation of what Mr. Walgreen is doing for Dixon. Tickets are on sale at the office of the Chamber of Commerce.

RECOVERED HIS AUTO

William Hilvety of Moweaqua, Ill., came to Dixon yesterday and recovered his Ford coupe which was stolen from the streets of Decatur early Saturday evening and abandoned near the Elmer cemetery east of Dixon on the Lincoln highway early Sunday morning. Two deserters from the Fort Sheridan military station had taken the car, which was recovered by State Police Officer Hal Roberts.

MUST OBEY TRAFFIC LAW

Commissioner Charles E. Miller of the department of public health and safety last night issued an order to the police department to rigidly enforce the city ordinances against motor buses and trucks violating the traffic rules. It developed that numerous complaints had been received of drivers of buses and trucks disregarding the traffic signals at Seventh street and Galena avenue and at the Everett street and North Galena avenue.

The complaints registered with the commission were to the effect that the offending drivers "cut" the lights with utter disregard to other traffic. Warnings were issued to several drivers some time ago, according to Chief Van Bibber and violators will now be haled by police court and fined.

TAKEN TO JOLIET

Thomas L. Geiger, former Nelson township supervisor and for years a prominent farmer of that community, left the county jail at noon today to be delivered to the new state penitentiary at Stateville, where this afternoon he will begin serving a term of from 10 to 20 years. Monday morning, Geiger appeared before Judge Harry Edwards in the county court and entered a plea of guilty to a series of thefts from the Chicago & Northwestern railway which consisted chiefly of butter valued at $1,344.

From the time that the plea of guilty was entered and sentence pronounced, Geiger has been in the custody of Sheriff Miller in the county jail. At noon today he was taken from his cell and started for Stateville. The sheriff was accompanied by Special Agent Stanley Sonnenberg of Chicago, who was in charge of the investigation here for several months which finally led to Geiger's apprehension.

Searching Ruins of Wrecked Bldg.

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 10.—Piteous appeals for help coming today from the debris of an eight story stone office building which collapsed yesterday spurred rescue workers on to dig out 65 persons estimated to be buried in the ruins. Eighteen bodies had been recovered and it was feared that many of those buried were dead. Two score were missing.

Pedestrians in the narrow street and passengers in a street car passing the building at the time of the collapse were injured. The chief inspector of Police was run over and killed by a fire department automobile when he was hurrying to the scene with a group of salvagers. The architect of the building was reported to have committed suicide on the spot when he saw the disaster. Three building inspectors were among those buried in the ruins.

Cries of relatives of the missing added to the horror of the scene as rescue workers labored through the night under the beams of searchlights. City engineers directed the workers in tunnelling into the wreckage through the wall of an adjoining building.

A woman found in the ruins the severed head of her husband and police had to take it away from her by force.

The populace of the vicinity was terrified by the collapse which occurred at a time when the business street was thronged.

Government authorities attributed the collapse to defective cement and hasty and faulty construction.

Thomas Daley Died in Moline This A. M.

Thomas Daley, formerly of this city, died this morning at 5 o'clock at a Moline hospital. Funeral services will be held at the Jones' funeral home at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, with burial at Oakwood.

WARDEN'S SLAYER DIED ON GALLOW IN JOLIET CO. JAIL

Shader Walked Calmly to His Death Early This Morning

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Calmly flipping away a cigarette as he mounted the scaffold and shouting a monochant farewell to his jailers, Charles Shader, three times a killer before his twenty-first birthday, went to his death through the gallows trap here today, the fifth man to pay with his life for the killing of a deputy warden of Joliet penitentiary during a prison break two years ago.

Shader was hanged in the Will County jail yard at 5:50 o'clock, only official witnesses and newspapermen witnessing his death. He was pronounced dead 24 minutes after the trap was sprung. He spent the night quietly following a visit by his mother yesterday.

Was Reconciled
The youthful killer, only 21 years old, had become reconciled to his fate a week ago and spent the intervening time checking off chalk marks on his cell wall, each mark representing the passing of an hour left him to live. He ate breakfast and as the time for the march to the gallows came, called for a cigarette which he smoked as he walked to the scaffold between two guards and accompanied by a prison chaplain.

"Goodbye, Jim" he called to a guard as the noose was being adjusted. The guard answered and a moment later the trap was sprung. Shader was one of seven men who escaped from Joliet penitentiary after killing Peter Klein, a guard. Shader was sent to prison for killing a policeman in Chicago and also admitted killing his father after a quarrel over the man's father wanted his sister to marry.

Three of the convicts who escaped with Shader were hanged last May after they and others had made a second break for liberty from the Will County jail where they were held after their conviction for murder and sentence of death. One of them was killed during the escape and one other made his getaway. One convict who escaped in the original prison break also still is at large.

Shader was the fourth convict to be hanged for the slaying of a deputy warden. A fifth member of their gang, Gregario Rizzo, was shot to death when the slayers broke from the Joliet jail.

Price was never captured after the original escape and Roa made good his third attempt from the Joliet jail, although he was shot and wounded in the gun fight that cost Rizzo his life.

Shader was at liberty for more than a year and was not recaptured until about three months ago when he returned to Chicago. He said he had been out on the Pacific coast. He was recognized by a policeman and seized without a struggle.

For sheer audacity, the first break of the seven from the state prison was considered unrivaled in Illinois. Making their way to the office of the Warden, they seized Deputy Klein and beat him and stabbed him to death. They forced a guard captain to march them outside the prison as though they were a labor gang and made their escape in the warden's automobile. All but Price were captured and tried for Klein's murder.

While in jail at Joliet the six broke for freedom on two different occasions, each time amidst gun fire.

To Hear Evidence of Public in Wage Fight

Chicago, Oct. 10.—(AP)—James R. Gage, chairman of President Coolidge's fact-finding commission investigating the wage dispute between the western railroads and their train service employees, today ruled that the commission would hear any evidence offered by the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Illinois Manufacturers' Association after the railroads and the unions had completed their case.

The two associations have signified their desire to offer evidence in the controversy as representatives of the public.

All times given are Central Standard.

Commissioners Discussed Belt Line Crossings at Weekly Meet

The city of Dixon will wage a war against the railroad companies operating the belt line switch tracks in the west end of the city, to bring about as early as possible the installation of danger signals on First and Third streets and possibly at Seventh street. This was decided at last evening's meeting of the commission, when two petitions were presented to the council bearing the signatures of about hundred property owners in the west end of the city, who are seeking protection at these crossings.

Commissioner Miller told the council that he had launched an action about a year and a half ago when he sought to have these much traversed crossings guarded with some kind of a signal, but added that the matter has been permitted to die out from lack of interest. He added that the task of securing signals was a tedious and long drawn out one. Each member of the council was in favor of taking immediate steps for the protection of these crossings and the city attorney was instructed to start immediately to bring about the installation of such signals by the railroad companies.

Commissioner Miller also called attention to the Illinois Central crossing on North Ottawa avenue, where he told the council, there was no signal or warning of any kind. With the construction of the cement street across this crossing traffic has been doubled and no precaution is taken to protect the public. It was decided that the striping of the cement paving at this crossing would suffice for the present.

Dementtown Police.

Commissioner John Loftus of the department of streets told the council that complaint had been made to him of conditions in Dementtown, particularly as they exist at certain hours of the day at Seventh street and Depot avenue.

"Hundreds of cars pass this crossing going each of the four ways about 6 o'clock in the evening and the public does not have the protection of a police officer. I have received complaints from citizens residing in that part of the city and know from my personal observation, that a police officer should be stationed at that particular corner at least until the traffic from the plow shops has been taken care of," Commissioner Loftus said

Granted Rehearing

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 10.—(AP)—William Wallace McCollum, Chicago lawyer who was disbarred at the last term of the Supreme Court, after his "crippled" client jumped up in court and threw his crutches away, was granted a rehearing today. McCollum charges that he was the victim of misrepresentation by an investigator for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad.

The railroad's representation was that McCollum was one of a large group of Chicago lawyers who made money in foisting unwarranted damage suits on railroads.

WATER FROM ROCK RIVER CHRISTENS WALGREEN'S PLANE

His Daughter Officiated at Christening Air Plane in Chicago

The Chicago Herald and Examiner story concerning the christening of Charles R. Walgreen's big Sikorsky plane, which will be one of four which will fly to Dixon next Saturday for the dedication of the sign which Mr. Walgreen has donated for the Dixon airport:

The dory had it yesterday when Miss Ruth Walgreen, daughter of Charles R. Walgreen, drug store magnate, christened the big Sikorsky amphibian plane recently bought by her father "Wet and Dry."

She broke a bottle upon the nose of the big ship, but the bottle contained only water from the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans, the Rock River and Lake Michigan.

The christening took place on the Jackson Park bathing beach at Sixty-third and the lake, where Pilot Ira Biffle, who taught Lindbergh to fly, landed the big land and water plane upon the lake and taxied it up on the beach.

The plane will be sent from Chicago to Menominee, Mich., the last of this week to attend the air conference there October 12 and 13. Capt. Homer Berry, aviation expert of The Herald and Examiner, will pilot the plane, with Ira O. Biffle.

Roger M. Andrews, president and publisher of the Detroit Times, has been named by Governor Green of Michigan to officially represent the state at the meet.

NEVER BEFORE A REMEDY LIKE IT, SAY OF GLY-CAS

Prompt Relief, Lasting Benefits of Great New Compound Amazing to Dixon People.

Possibly never before has a medicine received such widespread and sincere praise as is now being accorded this great new vegetable compound, Gly-Cas, all over Dixon and vicinity. Hundreds of people know from actual experience that Gly-Cas is no more like ordinary present-day medicines than day is like night. Surprising statements continue to be received at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy, in praise of Gly-Cas, such as the following:

"In my opinion, the highest praise I can give Gly-Cas is hardly enough in return for what this medicine has done for me," says Mrs. H. Hetler, 622 Hennepin Ave., Dixon.

"Several years ago I contracted rheumatism which settled in the joints of my body," she continued. "With the joints of my arms, limbs and shoulders so severely affected I could hardly get around at all. Parts of my body would sometimes swell twice their normal size and with all this pain and suffering I could get very little rest at night. As a consequence I was tired and listless through the day."

"I tell you, I was in despair of ever feeling better or ridding myself of the terrible rheumatism—that's why I feel that Gly-Cas has been of such wonderful value to me. It has been almost miraculous the way Gly-Cas cleansed my system of impurities and subsequently the rheumatism. In two months I have used three boxes of Gly-Cas and I feel better than I have for years. All the rheumatic swelling is gone from the affected parts and likewise practically all of my former pain and misery has ended. I sleep well now, have gained the most of my strength back and I just feel the highest praise for Gly-Cas is not enough."

Gly-Cas sold in Dixon at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy, 501 Franklin Grove, G. S. Ives; Polo, C. R. Cloutier; Ashton, G. R. Charters; Amboy, Aschenbrenner; Chubb, Compton, W. H. Hills; Rockville, Barker & Sullivan and by leading druggists in all surrounding towns.

LEGIONNAIRES GET DOWN TO SERIOUS BUSINESS OF MEET

Intense Merry-Making is Over With Humorous Parade Tuesday

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Putting behind them three days of intense merry-making, climaxed by the most unilitary parade San Antonio ever saw tired Legionnaires today turned to the serious business of the tenth annual American Legion convention.

Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis, Major Georges Scapini, blind French war veteran and William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, were scheduled to deliver addresses at the resumption of convention sessions.

Convention business did a "parade rest" yesterday while the gay delegates and visitors passed in amusing review, before their war-time commander, General John J. Pershing, their present Commander, Edward E. Spafford; Field Marshal Allenby of Great Britain; Governor Dan Moody, and other military and civilian notables.

Amusing Parade
Strung out over a three mile route, the former soldiers, sailors and marines, attempting to keep time to the confusion of music furnished by 51 field and drum corps and 29 bands, which interspersed the line of march, filed past the reviewing stands in front of the Alamo, Texas shrine of independence.

Four hours was required for the parade to pass. More than 10,000 veterans finished the march, though a considerably larger number started. Many were forced out by overtaxed feet and sultry south Texas heat. Besides the state delegations, Mexico, Italy, France, Greece, Hawaii, Panama, Guatemala, Cuba and Nicaragua had representatives in the reviewing line.

GOLDENROD—
 O Rod of Gold!
 O swaying sceptre of the year—
 Now frost and cold
 Show winter near,
 And shivering leaves grow brown
 And bare.
 The bleak hillside,
 And marshy waste of yellow reeds,
 And meadows wide
 Where frosted weeds
 Shake on the damp wind light-winged seeds.
 Are decked with thee—
 The lingering summer's latest grace,
 And sovereignty.
 Each wind-swept space
 Waves thy red gold in winter's face—
 He strives each star,
 In stormy pride to lay full low;
 But when thy bar
 Resists his blow,
 Will crown thee with a puff of snow!
 —Margaret Deland, in "The Old Garden and Other Verses."

Fifth Wedding Anniversary Observed

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Busby entertained a number of friends and relatives Sunday in honor of the fifth wedding anniversary of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harley L. Swarts of Oak Park. A delicious chicken dinner was served at noon, the Cook sisters catering. These annual gatherings are always much enjoyed by those attending and the ideal weather Sunday, added much to the occasion. The company spent most of the afternoon on the lawn, visiting and taking pictures. Mr. and Mrs. Swarts received many gifts and best wishes for future happy anniversaries.

Dixon Couple Married Saturday

Miss Mae Ariano became the bride of Isaac Passini Saturday at noon in Kincaid, Ill. They were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Margaret Ariano, and Richard Foll.
 The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Ariano. The bride was attired in a pretty gown of blue crepe de chine and the bridesmaid in a gown of red crepe de chine.

The newly wedded couple, both of whom are popular and have many friends in Dixon and vicinity, will make their home with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Christie Hopp, 503 Jackson avenue, Dixon.

Meeting Woman's Club on Saturday

The Dixon Woman's club announces the opening of the Thirty-Second Annual program, next Saturday afternoon promptly at 2:30 o'clock at the Christian church.

During the business session the various chairmen will announce their plans for the coming year.

The club calendars are ready and can be obtained from the Financial Secretary, Mrs. Ray Kline.

The program for this opening meeting is of special merit. It is in charge of the Literary Department, Mrs. John Weiss, chairman, who will present Miss Alice Einfield, reader, of Davenport.

The testimonials which Miss Einfield has received from the various clubs and organizations before which she has appeared speak in most enthusiastic terms of her ability as an entertainer. She has a most pleasing personality and a dramatic technique of high order. Her comedy parts are equally as good as her dramatic roles. A special musical number will be given by Mrs. Frank Robinson, soloist.

At the close of the program tea will be served by the following ladies of the club: Mesdames Wm. Hintz, Eichler, Baird, C. D. Anderson, Cahill, Ferger, A. D. George, Gordon, Andrew and Miss Hanes.

Non members are cordially invited to attend this meeting upon the payment of the club's guest fee.

Guests Were Happily Entertained Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Haas Jr. of the River Road very pleasantly entertained a party of friends on Saturday evening, Oct. 6, with a huge bonfire and out door supper which was a delight to every one and at its conclusion the guests gathered indoors and enjoyed progressive five hundred for the remainder of the evening.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO MEET THURSDAY

The Missionary Society of St. Paul's Lutheran church will hold a meeting Thursday afternoon at the church at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. W. W. Teschendorf, Mrs. Walter White, Mrs. Will Lenox and Mrs. John Florscheutz, will be the hostesses for the day. All members of the society and church are cordially invited to attend.

ST. AGNES GUILD ANNIVERSARY TO BE OBSERVED—
 The parish supper this evening at St. Luke's church will commemorate the fiftieth birthday anniversary of St. Agnes Guild of the church.

LIGHT BEARERS TO MEET SATURDAY—
 The Light Bearers of St. Paul's Lutheran church will meet Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church. All members and others interested are invited to attend.

The WOMAN'S DAY

Twila has rented the town's one "garden apartment." And if you knew neither Twila nor the town you never in the world could understand what's so exciting about that! For when Twila shook the dust of the town from her pretty beige shoes some ten years ago she announced to one and sundry that she was saying good-bye forever—that she'd had enough of this one-horse, gossip, one-track town.

The town didn't care so much what she said about it and them, but the town did buzz at Twila's casual disposal of her aged parents. One was practically blind and Twila's reading to him and chatter with him had been the one bright spot in his life, and Twila's mother lived for Twila only.

Which, being a modern daughter, was exactly what Twila resented, and, as she ultimately, wouldn't stand for.

"Parents have no business making their children their all-in-life," she said. "And it'll be a kindness to get out before it has become too strong a habit with them."

So Twila got out. She had been writing advertising copy for a big store in the nearby city from which she commuted to and from home every day. But Twila had ambitions. She ought to be in a bigger city, she explained—make a name for herself—meet the right people, live a fuller life.

That was ten years ago. In the years between Twila's parents have died, the old house has been sold, and here she is back again, living alone in the town's one "garden apartment," which is nothing but some rooms made in the upstairs of an old barn set in the midst of a huge orchard.

The orchard is next door to Twila's old home. She wanted it, she said, because the old home had been sold, she couldn't live there, and she had been hungry for years for the pear and walnut tree that she used to see from her window at night.

Nothing seems to have any value for Twila now which does not relate to the "old days." She will not admit that remorse enters into her mood. But she says she made a wrong choice—that the sweet security and contentment and continuity of family life with its companionships, its understandings and real vital interest in one another's welfare is worth infinitely more than all the things for which she passed it up.

Missionary Circle In October Meeting

The Young People's Missionary Circle of the Grace Evangelical Church held its October meeting on Monday evening. Following the singing of a number of songs the scripture lesson from Revelations, 21:1-7, was read by Reuben Schaefer and prayer was offered by Helen Brandelner. A poem entitled "Wanted," was read by Wayne Hartman. The lesson study was taken up by Alvina Geison and was given in an interesting matter. One new member was received. The meeting closed with repeating John, 3:16 "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that

Stand Squarely for D. A. R. National Defense

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Tribute to the Daughters of the American Revolution for bringing to public light the efforts of organizations "plotting the overthrow of our government" was paid by Rev. George McGinnis of LaGrange, Ill., in a "Preparedness" address at the Indiana State D. A. R. conference here today.

His topic was "National Defense From a Christian's Viewpoint" and his Bible texts were "Thou art my battle axe," and "When a strong man armed keepeth his palace his goods are in peace." As another text he used Roosevelt's "Speak softly and carry a big stick." He spoke in part, as follows:

"We all hate and detest war. War is the gigantic evil of nations and we put no more money into war than is absolutely essential for national defense and even that is oft times insufficient. War is the business of barbarians, but war is not our business, yet we mean business when we go to war as other nations can testify. Every preacher in America is deluged with peace propaganda sent out by over 50 anti-war societies, largely financed by foreign countries. Americans on the pay roll of these societies are adding in this peaceful penetration, to put our nation in an unprepared condition."

"Kaiser Bill, before the World War put over on us that same 'stunt' through the peace societies organized long before the war by Congressman Barthold of St. Louis. Shall we be caught napping a second time. Col. Reilly of 149th Field Artillery has revealed that Germany pushed us into the war believing we were unprepared."

If we sided to the demands of the pacifists, according to our battleships, disbanding our army it would make our nation an easy prey to the Russian Soviet who are organizing the proletariat of the world against us. Unpreparedness is equivalent to withdrawing the police force of a great city. In Boston when police went on a strike, mobs ruled the city deriding the authorities. The underworld began to loot and burn. There was no law and order, no protection to life and property. Governor Coolidge grasped the situation with a strong hand, called out the militia, order was restored and peace and safety prevailed. Gompers complained to Coolidge for his action and he replied, "There is no right to strike against public safety by anybody, anywhere, any time."

That famous telegram eventually made Coolidge president. "We have carved a magnificent republic out of a wilderness, with great free institutions, enlightened government, beautiful homes, splendid cities, grand churches, mammoth factories, immense herds of cattle and sheep and fertile fields. I thank God that we have a patriotic organization among women, 'The Daughters of the American Revolution,' who believe these things are worthwhile and that we should defend them against those who are plotting and planning for the overthrow of our government. Christian people with war weary hearts are most susceptible to this peace propaganda because its emissaries proclaim that war and the Christian religion are irreconcilable; whereas the Bible teaches that disarmament on the part of God's people is condemned.

"We are not aggressive in war. We have been practically kicked into every war that we have ever waged. We have no ill-will, we are friendly to all nations. We do not covet their territorial domain, nor seek the overthrow of their government. Then why should evil-minded nations seek to break down our national defense. It is the unscrupulous nations that should be made to disarm, not America. God has laid squarely upon the shoulders of America the defense of those ideals and principles which Western civilization has built up and we would be derelict to our God-given duty if we failed to prepare for national defense."

Miss Trumbull May be Fifteenth Bride to Grace White House

Washington.—(AP)—Should Florence Trumbull, daughter of the governor of Connecticut, be married to John Coolidge in the executive mansion she will be the fifteenth White House bride.

The last wedding there was that of Eleanor Wilson to William Gibbs McAdoo, then secretary of the treasury. That was May 7, 1924, and Miss Wilson was the fourteenth White House bride. Her sister, Miss Jessie, defied superstition and became the thirteenth bride when she married Francis B. Sayre in the east room, November 25, 1913.

A president himself, niece, daughters and a ward of a chief executive have taken their vows in the stately colonial mansion.

Washington is keenly interested in the prospects of a Coolidge-Trumbull wedding in the White House. No announcement has been made however. Nellie Grant and Alice Roosevelt chose the east room for their weddings. They had so many guests that this was the only room large enough. When President Cleveland was married to Francis Wolcott, the blue room was used, as the guest list on that occasion was rather limited.

A White House wedding before Mr. Coolidge leaves office would be regarded as a social climax to a season, that so far appears to be one of brilliance.

Lucy Payne, widow of a nephew of George Washington and sister-in-law of President Madison was the first White House bride. She was married March 11, 1811.

The other eleven weddings in the mansion were:

Anna Todd of Philadelphia, cousin of Mrs. Madison, wife of the president, and Rep. Edward B. Jackson, a great-uncle of Stonewall Jackson, 1812.

Marie Hester Monroe, daughter of President Monroe, and Samuel Lawrence Gouverneur of New York, 1820.

Hary Hellen, niece of Mrs. Adams, and John Adams, son of President John Quincy Adams, February 20, 1828.

Mary Lewis of Nashville, Tenn., a daughter of one of President Andrew Jackson's famous "kitchen cabinet," and Alphonse Joseph Yver Pageot, secretary of the French legation, 1829.

Emily Martin, niece of President

Jackson and Lewis Donaldson, a grandson of Jefferson, 1831.

Mary Easton, of Tennessee, niece of President Jackson, and Lucien B. Polk, a relative of President Polk, 1837.

Elizabeth Tyler, third daughter of President Tyler, and William Waller of Williamsburg, Va., 1841.

Nellie Grant, daughter of President Grant, and Algernon C. F. Sartoris, May 21, 1874.

Emily Platt, niece of President Hayes, and General Russell Hastings, formerly lieutenant colonel of the Twenty-third regiment of Ohio Volunteers, June 19, 1878.

Frances Falsom, the president's ward, and President Grover Cleveland, June 2, 1886.

Alice Roosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt, and Rep. Nicholas Longworth, February 17, 1906.

Bridge Made Easy

SIX ALIBI CONVENTIONS—6
 Another misnomer convention is "always play through strength." Assume that you are second hand and have the lead on the third round. Dummy's remaining cards are:
 Spades 8 6 5
 Hearts A Q
 Diamonds A K Q J
 Clubs K J

Following this convention literally you would lead through the strongest suit, diamonds. But east may be holding the Ace-Queen of clubs. If you lead a diamond, the declarer will probably be delighted for it will give him an opportunity to discard losing clubs on the winning diamonds in the dummy.

Before leading through the dummy, always attempt to visualize your partner's hand and then lead in a manner which will not enable the declarer to capture your partner's possible winning cards. If you cannot draw an inference as to your partner's holdings, lead through broken suits such as A X X, A J X, A Q X, K X X, Q X X, K Q X, K J X or K 10 X in preference to such solid suits as A K Q J, A K Q, K Q J 10, A Q J X X, K J 10 9 or A K J X X.

Miscellaneous Shower Mr. and Mrs. Rogers

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Willstead Sunday afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Rogers. Mrs. Rogers was formerly Miss Eva Willstead, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willstead, and her marriage to Mr. Rogers was a recent event.

There were about fifty guests, relatives and friends, present at the happy affair, and the newlyweds received many useful and beautiful gifts with the best wishes of all present.

A dainty luncheon of ice cream and cake was served, after which some enjoyable music was furnished by different guests present, the Fitzpatrick sisters furnishing several selections. All left at a late hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. Rogers a long and happy married life.

Gyrettes Elected Officers Last Evening

Last evening the members of the Gyrettes were pleasantly entertained at the Bunnell-Watts cottage at Assembly Park, by Mrs. Elwin Bunnell, at a picnic supper. Following the tempting supper a business meeting was held and an election of officers which resulted in the following members being elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Lester Wilhelm.
 Vice President—Mrs. Stuart Netz.
 Sec. and Treas.—Mrs. Walter Muel-ler.

At the conclusion of the business session all enjoyed the happy social hour.

Mother Gloria Swanson Marries Again

Chicago, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Gloria Swanson has a new stepfather—C. Woodruff, a member of the Chicago Civic Opera Company orchestra. Woodruff and Mrs. Adeline Lou Burns, mother of the screen star, were married recently at Tijuana, but their marriage became known here only when they established themselves in a home on Delaware Place.

It was Mrs. Burns' third marriage.

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED PASTOR AT WORK IN STERLING

Last evening a large number of the members of the Shepherd's Sunday School class of the Grace Evangelical church surprised their pastor, Rev. F. Brandelner, who is assisting in the revival services at the Trinity Evangelical church at Sterling, by attending the services in a body.

FOREIGN MONOPOLIES AND AMERICAN CONSUMERS.

In some respects Herbert Hoover presents a curious anomaly. He is at once the best known, and among the least known, of prominent American citizens. The world knows that during the past fifteen years Hoover has been associated with some of the most gigantic undertakings of all time. It knows that he administered the distribution of nearly eight billions of dollars worth of foodstuffs to an undernourished world, and that he personally directed a work that saved the lives of nearly 20,000,000 people.

A good part of the American people do not know, however, how much Mr. Hoover has done for the American family. They do not know that his policies have saved billions of dollars to the American consumer, and that there is scarcely a man, woman or child in the United States that has not benefited, and is not now benefiting, from those policies.

Consider his successful fight to protect the consumers of the United States from foreign monopolies. Every man who buys a new set of tires for his flivver, every farmer who buys a ball of binder-twine or a ton of fertilizer, every woman who purchases a pair of silk stockings, every person who drinks a cup of coffee, everyone who purchases any of a thousand other articles into the manufacture of which certain foreign-produced raw materials enter, should reflect that they are in pocket a substantial amount because of the efforts of Mr. Hoover.

There is no flag-waving for such achievements, but as President McKinley once said, the victories of peace may be greater than those of war. Such a victory is that won by Hoover as Secretary of Commerce, over foreign government-controlled monopolies which were attempting to gouge the American consumer. Though a battle of peace, the victory forestalled more bitter struggles and directly affected more Americans, as well as people of other countries, than would an armed conflict.

The victory was won because through the mediatory efforts of Mr. Hoover, the fallacy of these dog-in-the-manger policies was admitted by Great Britain, the most influential nation involved, and is now gradually being recognized by all other nations. That victory, however, must be followed up assiduously under competent leadership, if the full measure of benefit is to accrue and the snares of international bitterness avoided. That leadership is offered by the Republican Party in its candidate for President.

Cows were fed seaweed on an Illinois farm on the theory that the milk they'd give would cure goitre. Why not give them an aspirin tablet every day? So no one who drinks milk ever would be bothered with headaches. . . . The trouble is that it isn't the people who drink milk who get headaches. . . . The experiment might be carried further. A man might buy a cow these days, mix up a few political speeches with the animal's hay, take a drink of milk and go to bed disgusted, saving time and the expense of a radio. . . . Sufferers with insomnia might find relief by buying a cow and feeding it on grand opera selections. . . . If this experiment is a success, however, the bootleggers all will go into the dairy business, feed the bovines corn mash and sell milk at $12 the quart.

A doctor says that if we eliminate nervousness we might wipe out some of the great inventors and discoverers. One of these probably is the man who originally found out that the cardboard the laundry sends with your shirts is excellent to stuff into windows that rattle at night.

The government gave the hurricane sufferers all the contraband liquor seized in Florida. People in some other parts of the country are wondering how you go about having a windstorm.

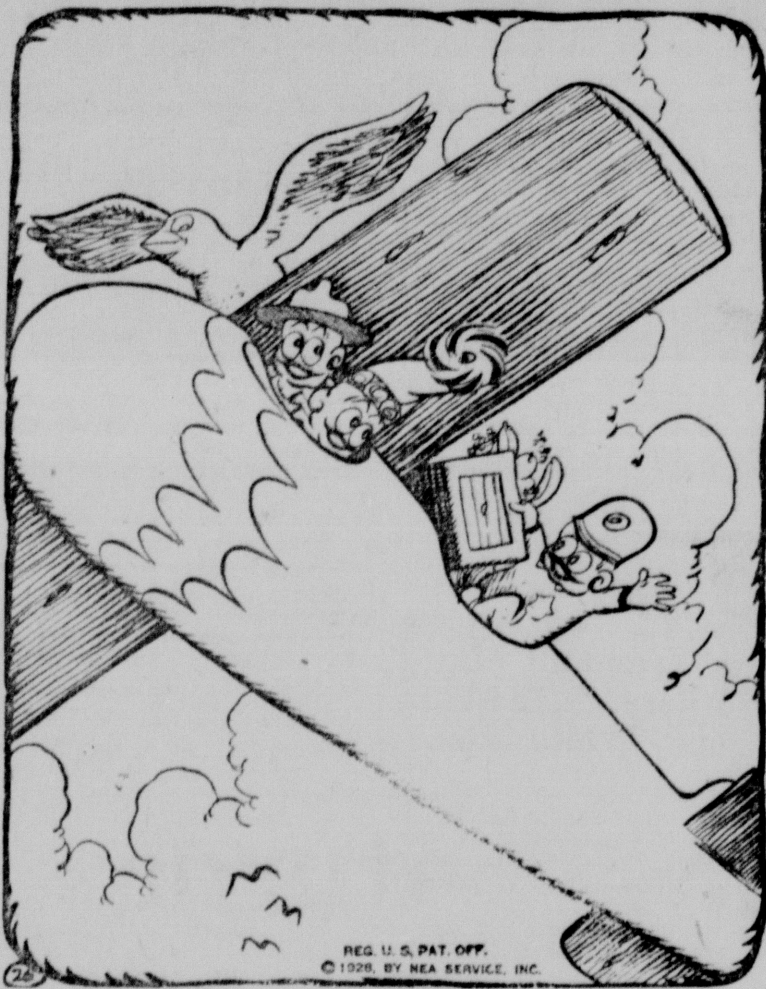

Boston baked beans originated in a Russian monastery a century before the Pilgrims landed, according to a report by the National Restaurant Association. We wish the association would set its historians to working on the real origin of some of the eggs served as strictly fresh nowadays.

Commander Byrd passed through Chicago on his way to join the Antarctic expedition. Probably just getting ready to go through anything.

California grape growers have increased production 200 per cent since prohibition went into effect. People certainly are eating a lot of jelly these days.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNUCK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

With all the buzzards out of sight, now everything appeared all right. The Tiniel liked to ride up in the little sparrowplane. The sun came out, and one said, "Gee, it's getting hot as it can be. We're up so high, we're near the sun, I wish that it would rain."

The sparrow looked around and said, "Why there's a rain cloud overhead. I'll fly into the rainstorm just to grant your little wish." Then up the speedy sparrow flew. The next thing that the Tiniel knew, small raindrops pattered on them, and the wind began to swirl.

"My goodness, take us out of this. Suppressing something goes amiss," cried Clowdy. "Then our plane would fall. That wouldn't be much fun. Of course we kicked about the heat. Compared to this, though it's a treat. So please be nice to us and take us right back in the sun."

The sparrow chirped and said, "All right, I'll fly right out with all my might." It wasn't long till they were in the clear again. They watched the rain cloud disappear. Then Clowdy calmly said, "Oh, dear, I'm hungry. It's too bad that we need food now and then."

"We didn't bring a thing along upon this trip. Now, that was wrong. I guess we'll have to fly right down to earth and seek our lunch." Just then Clowdy shouted, "Hey! All of you Tiniels look this way. I've found a heavy package. It gives me a happy lunch."

He broke the string and looked inside. "I'm right! It's full of food!" he cried. "Hurray," exclaimed the Tiniels. "Now we'll have a lovely treat." My goodness, what a lot they found. And not a tiny made a sound, for they were all too busy, as they started in to eat.

(Clowdy feeds the sparrow in the next story.)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
QUESTION: O. J. writes: "About ten years ago I fell and landed on my knees and since then they give way at times and I almost fall. They make a grating sound, and I wonder if you could tell me something to use as a massage."

ANSWER: Massage will be of little use to you in correcting the trouble with your knees. Go to a physical culture instructor and have him give you some exercises which will strengthen your leg muscles. Sometimes the diathermy electrical treatment will help in the correction of such troubles caused by accidents. The action of the diathermy current is to warm the tissues of the knees including the bones. Metabolism in these parts is increased and the effect is far deeper than anything which can be obtained by massage.

QUESTION: O. B. asks: "Will you please tell me in your health column the cause, symptoms and cure of a floating or wandering kidney?"

ANSWER: The kidneys are not definitely anchored in an exact position, but change their position slightly with the movements of the body. Those who have a general prolapsus of abdominal organs will find that the kidneys are always lower down than is considered normal. There are seldom any definite symptoms except those which go with the general prolapsus. The backache and bearing-down feelings associated with prolapsus are seldom caused by the floating kidneys alone, but come from the general weakness of abdominal and back muscles which allow the prolapsus to exist. The only cure is in raising these organs through strengthening the abdominal and back muscles by taking suitable setting-up exercises.

THE DIET FOR DIABETES MELLITUS

In curing this disease it is necessary that the patient conserve the nervous energy, as this disease is often brought on by nervous strains, shocks, worry and overwork. Sleep and periods of rest are essential to a cure.

In spite of the seriousness of this disease, under ordinary methods of treatment I have found that it is easily curable in most cases. Those cases that are most serious have destructive areas in the liver, pancreas or kidney. When diabetes occurs in young people it is usually most serious because it is often accompanied by destructive processes in some of these organs.

The proper way to begin treating diabetes is to use a citrus fruit fast, employing either orange or grapefruit juice, using a glassful every two or three hours. Warm enemas must be used regularly every morning, and a whole body massage should be given occasionally. Vigorous skin friction is advisable after a cold shower bath morning and evening.

The citrus fruit fast should be continued until all traces of sugar have disappeared from the urine and even a few days longer. In severe cases it may be advisable to use shorter periods of fasting at intervals of one or two months. After the fast the diabetic patient may use a well balanced diet, but he should be careful to avoid the use of starches and sugar for some time to come. This is a model of the diet after the fast that I usually recommend for my patients:

BREAKFAST: Choice of one kind of protein, such as eggs, nuts or cheese. Only one egg should be used, or two ounces of nuts, or two ounces of cheese. Three or four slices of Melba toast. (This is toast dextrinized completely through, which changes the starch). A small dish of stewed fruit, such as prunes, figs, raisins, applesauce or baked apples—no sugar being added. Between breakfast and lunch at least one quart of distilled water should be taken.

LUNCH: Choice of one or more of the following vegetables: celery, spinach, small string beans, asparagus, cucumbers, egg plant, small beets and tops, summer squash, ected with the business of the country, and we favor the ultimate attainment of the principles we advocate by legislation that will not injure or destroy legitimate industry."

They said that in the campaign of 1912, and the next year, when they came into power, they passed the unfair and injurious Underwood tariff.

Since Governor Smith in his speech of acceptance specifically pointed to the Underwood tariff as a model for future action, all who are concerned in the welfare of our industries and labor should consider what it did to the country before it was repealed by a Republican Congress.

It stripped entirely of protection wheat, corn and other grains and their manufactures; cattle, hogs, sheep and lamb; beef, veal, mutton, lamb, pork, ham, bacon and lard; it put potatoes, eggs, milk, cream and wool on the free list.

It put on the free list or reduced the tariff on products of the mine, the forests and the fisheries and the orchards.

These are the basic industries of the Pacific coast and Rocky Mountain states. Re-enactment of the Underwood tariff, as proposed by Governor Smith, would strike a heavy blow at these western states—Washington, Oregon, California, Montana, Idaho, the Dakotas, Utah, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico.

As these states have the same basic industries they have a common interest and welfare in adequate protection. They are guaranteed that protection under Republican administration. They are threatened with free trade in their products by the Democratic Party and its candidate.

VALUE—QUALITY—VARIETY

140 YEARS OF THE PRESIDENTIAL PARADE!

EDITOR'S NOTE — When Lincoln was nominated, a cannon fired on the roof of the convention hall could be heard inside. That and other interesting facts about Lincoln's victory are told in this chapter of "The Presidential Parade," Rodney Dutcher's series on the presidential campaigns of the past.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

(Copyright, 1928, NEA Service, Inc.)
Washington, Oct. 10 — Abraham Lincoln, often considered our greatest president, was nominated largely because his chief opponent was disliked by the anti-Catholic element and then elected only by a minority of the votes cast for president in November.

He was nominated at a remarkable convention opening at Chicago May 16, 1860, which bears some resemblance to the hectic Madison Square Garden convention of the Democrats in 1924.

Sixty delegates to that convention were later elected to Congress and many became governors. David Wilcox, of Providence, was the keynote. Invitations for Republican delegates had been sent broadcast. Few southerners dared accept, although slave-holding border states were represented and Texas partly so. Thousands of spectators poured into Chicago from the free states. It was the first convention to have a special hall built for it, the first to attract and admit huge gallery crowds and the first with telegraph instruments inside the hall.

Almost until the time of the convention Senator William H. Seward of New York was expected to get the nomination. He had proved a wise leader of the party's battles in the Senate. Thurlow Weed had laid the groundwork for him and William M. Evans was to make eloquent speeches in his behalf.

Lincoln had hardly been mentioned. In 1859 he had said that he was unfit for the nomination and would not work for it, though later he changed his mind. His friends had hoped for the vice presidential nomination.

But sentiment began to set in against Seward shortly before the convention. Horace Greeley, editor of the powerful New York Tribune was opposing him.

What told most against Seward was the feeling among independent delegates that he had made too many enemies. He had frightened many of the timid by his predictions of the "irrepressible conflict."

The Know-Nothings, however, turned the tide. Archbishop Hughes had supported Seward for governor of New York in 1858 and enabled him to win with Catholic votes. In gratitude, Seward had proposed to divide the state school fund between public and Catholic schools. The anti-Catholics had never forgiven him and now, in 1860, having been organized in the Know-Nothing party they were against his nomination.

Henry S. Lane and Andrew G. Curtin were Republican candidates for governor of Indiana and Pennsylvania respectively. Lane and Curtin came to Chicago especially to get a strong national ticket nominated to aid them at home. They told the delegates Seward could not carry their states because of the American or Know-Nothing party. Seward delegates began to abandon him with tears. They loved Seward, but loved victory more. The party had never carried Pennsylvania or Indiana and must have them to win.

The Seward lines weakened, but Weed and other strong leaders waged a brilliant fight for their man. Weed promised Lane to throw any amount of money into Indiana to carry his election. Lane wouldn't listen.

The Seward opposition began to concentrate on Lincoln, who had been nominated by Illinois Republicans a few days before and was supported by capable Illinois politicians led by Col. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune. Lincoln's strategists presented him as Seward's admirer and friend and lined up the anti-Seward delegates first, without alienating the Sewardites.

The night before the first day of balloting, Seward's men gave a big champagne supper. There were many pious complaints. The Lincoln men, meanwhile, were working.

The Seward supporters had brought several thousand people from New York, who marched about the streets with a gorgeous brass band. They paraded amid lusty cheers.

Lincoln's managers packed thousands of Illinois Republicans into the temporary wigwag erected for the convention, instructed to take up every inch of space and howl for Lincoln.

When the Seward men reached the wigwag, only the New York delegation could get in. The other Seward rosters had to stay out. But there were those to cheer for him and a gigantic demonstration greeted presentation of his name. Murat Halstead wrote that "hundreds stopped their ears in pain. No Comanches, no panthers ever gave screams of more infernal intensity. Thousands of hats, a black, mighty swarm of hats, flew with the velocity of hornets over a mass of human heads."

But, he added, the counter uproar for Lincoln was "beyond description. I thought the Seward yell could not be surpassed, but the Lincoln boys were clearly ahead, and feeling their victory, as there was a lull in the storm, took deep breaths all around, and gave a concentrated shriek that was positively awful and accompanied it with stamping that made every plank and pillar quiver."

Both sides had engaged tough cheer leaders. Thus began the convention practice of yelling contests, familiar ever since. When Lincoln's nomination finally came, a cannon fired from the roof was not heard inside.

On the first ballot Seward had 175½ votes to Lincoln's 102, with 190 cast for others and 233 necessary for choice. In two more ballots Lincoln had leaped to 231½; Ohio switched four votes to put him over and others followed. Seward accepted defeat gracefully, though his managers were too angry to name the vice presidential candidate and Hannibal Hamlin of Maine was selected.

Lincoln, nervous and excited, had been playing billiards at Springfield. He sat in the Illinois State Journal office to receive the dispatches. The news came; Lincoln read it to himself and then aloud. He arose, announcing that he was "going down the street to tell a little woman the news."

The rest was easy. Lincoln stood for preventing further extension of slavery. Breckinridge for protecting its extension, Douglas for non-intervention and exaction of the issue and Bell for anything that would bring peace. The Democrats fought more between themselves than against the Republicans. Lincoln carried every northern state. The result was:

	Popular	Electoral
Lincoln	1,866,000	180

The Aviator

Absolute dependability is aviation's first law and that is why I use dependable Champion Spark Plugs.

Champion is the better spark plug because it has an exclusive sili-mite insulator specially treated to withstand the much higher temperatures of the modern high-compression engine. Also a new patented solid copper gasket-seal that remains absolutely gas-tight under high compression. Special analysis electrodes which assure a fixed spark-gap under all driving conditions.

Beginning October 4th and every Thursday thereafter the Champion Sparkers will broadcast over the Blue Network of the National Broadcasting Company from 8:30 to 9:00 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

Regular Examination Needed

By Leonard A. West, M. D.

The importance of an examination of the urine, at least once a year, cannot be too strongly advocated. This means a thorough analysis to determine the presence of albumin, sugar, pus and blood. The specific gravity, which indicates the amount of solid substance in relation to the liquid, is tested. The reaction of the urine, which means whether the urine is acid or alkaline, is also checked.

If the urine is normal, one can rest assured that there is no definite disease of the kidneys or urinary bladder. In the great majority of instances, on the other hand, the presence of albumin means some impairment of kidney activity; the presence of sugar suggests diabetes; pus indicates infection; and blood is always a serious finding.

Blood in the urine is a danger sign. There are many people who have passed blood in the urine. They have noticed it. The bleeding has perhaps lasted only a day or so. The incident is forgotten. The individual makes no effort to find out what caused the bleeding. Five years elapse, and again the bleeding occurs. This time it is more severe and lasts longer. A physician is consulted. He finds a cancer of the urinary bladder or kidney, which was perhaps only a small tumor and which was not a cancer five years before. The small tumor could have easily been taken care of and the danger eliminated. However, after five years of tumor growth and cancer degeneration, without producing any symptoms, the situation is indeed grave.

There are many causes for blood in the urine, but some form of tumor is the most common. Do not treat blood in the urine as an unimportant and should be investigated. Important symptom—it is extremely common as it appears. The danger lies in the fact that blood may not appear again for years, but the disease progresses during this time in an insidious manner, without warning.

There are very few diseases of the kidneys and urinary bladder which, if taken care of in time, cannot be controlled. Abnormal findings in the urine occur in most of the cases. Consequently, if the urine is examined routinely, at least once a year, there is every reason to believe that these abnormal conditions can be discovered early, and life indefinitely prolonged.

Curious Facts About Presidents

LINCOLN OFFERS

DELEGATE "FUND"
Abraham Lincoln opposed use of money in campaigns for presidential nominations, but he was willing to stretch a point. Two months before the convention which nominated him at Chicago, he wrote to a Kansas friend:

"As to your kind wishes for myself, allow me to say that I cannot enter the ring on the money basis, first, because in the main it is wrong; and, secondly, I have not and cannot get the money. I say in the main the use of money is wrong; but for certain objects in a political contest the use of some is both right and indispensable. With me, as with yourself, this long struggle has been one of great pecuniary loss. I now distinctly say this. If you shall be appointed a delegate to Chicago, I will furnish one hundred dollars to bear the expenses of the trip."

Kansas instructed its delegation for Seward, but Lincoln later renewed the offer.

CARDINALS LOOK TERRIBLE AFTER CRUSHING DEFEAT

Yankees Showed Stuff in Classy Manner to Cop Series

BY BRIAN BELL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Enroute to New York with Yankee Special, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Enjoying poor health to an extent never approached by any other club, the New York Yankees, speeding home today stood at the head of the baseball class and more.

They were established as the first team to win two world series in eight games, disposing of the Cardinals of 1923 as they humbled the Pirates of 1927 in four straight games. It never has been done before and many world series are likely to come and go before it is equalled.

To make the sensational performance just concluded more extraordinary the American League champions and hold-over world title holders went into the autumn classic carrying the unrestrained sympathy of their friends on account of their poor physical condition.

Badly Crippled.
They limped home in the pennant race in their league and started the big series without Pennock, their southpaw standby in other series tests, or Combs, brilliant outfielder.

Tony Lazzeri had a bad shoulder making his throwing a gamble. Babe Ruth, the mainspring of the outfit, was afflicted with a weak knee and Lou Gehrig, Ruth's home run support became a minor casualty when he suffered a cut lip on the last day of the season.

The supreme test again demonstrated that there are baseball players and then there is Babe Ruth. This 225 pound man-mountain of baseball brains and brawn dominated the play and like the great showmen he is brought his performance to a climax as the curtain went down.

Ruth Great Star.
Coming up to the fourth game with a batting average of more than .600 but without a single one of the home runs which made him famous he drove three balls out of the park and finally ended the game with a hair-raising one handed catch.

The Cardinals were routed because their pitchers could not prevent home run hits ringing from the Yankee bats. The winners smashed out nine homers in the four games, all the circuit blows being charged to the accounts of three of the best pitching bats St. Louis could offer.

Bill Sherdel was nicked for four, Grover Alexander allowed three and Jesse Haines gave up two.

The fourth and last game, finally decided by a score of 7 to 3 was the third contest, was a mixture of triumph, comedy and pathos. It brought Ruth his greatest single day in the game. He has hit three home runs in this same Sportsman Park in another world series but he did not end that game with a story book catch.

The comedy was furnished by the fielding of both teams and the individual clowning of the Big Babe.

Sherdel Pathetic.
Bill Sherdel was the pathetic figure. A great pitcher, he went into the game with a record of never having won a world series game. He pitched great ball in the 1923 series but lost both starts, drawing Pennock at his best for his opponent in both. He bowed to Waite Hoyt in the opening game of this series although he permitted but four hits in seven innings.

Yesterday he had to retire again—this time in the sixth but again he was not disgraced. He went out with his head up after giving a fine exhibition of a clever pitcher with a great ball.

He pitched to Ruth and although this daring maneuver finally proved his undoing he could not be blamed for trying.

The break came in the seventh. The Yankees were trailing, for Ruth's homer was their only counter and wretched fielding in which Waite Hoyt had contributed an eccentric throw along with some errors of omission and commission by his fellows had given the Cardinals two runs.

"Sneak" Illegal.
Sherdel got the big fellow in the hole at the outset when he went to the plate with one out in the "lucky seventh." His first two pitches, both exasperating slow balls were scorned by the slugger, and Umpire Pfrman waved his hand for strikes on both.

Sherdel then attempted to sneak one over when the Babe was not looking. Without taking his windup the southpaw fired a ball toward the plate. Pfrman declared it illegal by holding up his hand palm toward the pitcher mounded as the pitch was made.

The umpire explained later that he was enforcing the edict against quick deliveries and the ball against quick deliveries and the ball was "dead" no matter what happened.

Sherdel rushed to the plate to voice an indignant protest, claiming that a third strike should have been called. He was supported by Manager Bill McKeechie, Captain Frankie Frisch and all the high privates, as Ruth stood at the plate clapping his hands as if to urge his opponents on to more heated discussion with Pfrman's ruling. The umpire won as umpires do and Sherdel went back to pitch.

After two wide pitches, Bill gave Babe one he could reach and he cashed in on his specialty with a homer, tying the score. Gehrig hit one right behind him, not so far as the sample Ruth gave but far enough. Muesel singled and Grover Alexander was summoned to take charge of the pitching. Orattti stood on his head trying to field Lazzeri's fly and it went for a double. The convalescent Combs then made a sentimental appearance in the series as a pinch hitter, long enough to drive out a sacrifice fly and the inning closed with a total of four runs. Ruth hit his third homer in the eighth after Durst batted for Paschal and hit the fifth circuit smash of the game, but these were only for good measure. The game was over in the seventh.

News From Grid Camps of Large Schools of West

Chicago, Oct. 10.—(AP)—"Pest" Welch will be turned loose to pester Minnesota when the Purdue Boilermakers invade the Gopher stronghold Saturday.

The flashy Purdue halfback, whose dashes routed Harvard last year, has been on the sidelines this season with a bad knee. With Ed. Caraway, chunky back, still out with an injured ankle, Coach Jimmie Phelan has decided to give Welch's knee a severe test in the game.

In the few practice skirmishes, Welch has been in this season, he has shown as much or more speed than ever. With Glen Harmeson at quarterback, Purdue promises to give the heavy Minnesota team something to worry about. Lynn Cook has replaced Al Guthrie at the other half, while a plunger heavy enough to crash the Gopher line is being groomed for fullback.

Coach Pat Page is driving his Indiana team at a fast pace in preparation for Saturday's tussle with Michigan. The Hoosiers have never defeated the Wolverines nor have they even scored on them, but because of Ohio Wesleyan's victory last week, they believe their opportunity has come at last. Coach Tad Wieman of Michigan is busy shifting his squad following the defeat last Saturday.

The return of Captain George Gibson to his guard position after an absence because of an injury has cheered Minnesota, although Coach Clarence Spears is hard put for a fullback to take the place of Bronko Nagurski, who has been shifted to tackle to bolster the line. Nagurski yet may be returned to fullback.

So impressed is Coach Stagg with reports of the plunging prowess of Maves McLain, Iowa's Indian fullback, that he is whipping up his forward wall more gusto than ever. Buck Weaver, giant guard, may hurdle his scholastic barrier in time to get into the game, although Captain Sol Weislow, right tackle, probably will be out with his bad knee.

Freshment at Both Iowa and Chicago used their opponents' plays in scrimmage yesterday, but were smeared easily by the varsity elevens.

Ohio State's chances against Northwestern Saturday were dimmed yesterday when Lawton Fontaine, end, was declared ineligible. Coach Jack Wilce is stressing the forward pass. The addition of Henry Bruder, the triple threat sophomore halfback, to the lineup has bolstered Northwestern's hopes. Bruder has been out for several days because of an injured hip.

With Jud Timm, Frank Walker and Chuck Hall temporarily disabled, a new set of backs is expected to get a chance at Illinois in the Coe game. Hickman has been transferred from end to back and is showing up well.

While Wisconsin came through to defeat Notre Dame Saturday, Coach Glen Thistlethwaite was dissatisfied with his offensive and is polishing it up with an eye on the Purdue game, October 20. One of the three varsity squads will clash with Cornell College of Iowa in Saturday's doubleheader with the reserves playing North Dakota State.

CUBS TRIUMPH OVER SOX; WIN SERIES EASILY

Blackburn's Players Looked Pitiful in Last Contest

Chicago, Oct. 10.—What a thrashing those Cubs gave those White Sox yesterday to win the baseball championship of Chicago and suburbs! It is doubtful if any city series contender ever looked more pitiful than did the Sox in the seventh game of the so-called city classic of 1923. The score was Cubs, 13; Sox, 2, and the mere figures do the Cubs a great injustice. A tabulation of say, 30 to 0, would represent a fairer comparison of the two clubs as they appeared yesterday.

There was a note of solace in the debacle, however. The Sox couldn't possibly have beaten Sheriff Blake the way they were using their bats yesterday, they'd have been only aggravated if the score had been close. And besides they will be the challengers in 1929 which will obviate the necessity of sitting around all winter and summer wondering if there'll be a city series next fall.

Too Bad for George.
The ease with which the Sox beat the Cubs in Monday's game apparently threw Manager Blackburne of the Comiskys of his guard, for he elected to start a pitcher who hasn't been appraised as good enough to start a game in the American League since last June. George Connally was Lena's first pitching choice and a sad one indeed.

George can point to the fact that Hunnefeld made a terrible error in the first inning which led to great misery, but the Sarge had no business in the ball game in any event. The 24,880 customers who paid real money to get in yesterday were entitled to a better show.

After Connally and Walsh had been knocked out, Adkins, who pitched a great game Monday—a full game—was rushed in although the Sox didn't have a Chinaman's chance to win.

Thomas Refuses Task.
Tommy Thomas, who pitched Sunday, had been urged to take up the task of retaining the championship. But Tommy is a smart young business man and has read the biographies of Ed Walsh Sr., Charles Root and others who became imbued with the "I die for dear old Rutgers" spirit to their ultimate sorrow.

The fact that Tommy did not wish to go in after one day's layoff didn't mean anything to Adkins, who previously had appeared in three games of the series. And Grady is two years older than Tommy.

But speculating on pitchers who couldn't or didn't pitch is an idle task. The batting of the Cubs was a more tangible factor and their fielding was top notch, too. They made no errors while the Sox made five.

Cuyler Gives Sprint Lessons.
The Cubs made six runs in the first inning and a half dozen in the fifth. And just to make it an even 13, Kiki Cuyler scored while Metzler and Shires were struggling with a double play which retired the side. The run counted because Ki was fast enough to get across between the time Metzler caught a fly for the second out and the time Shires got it to double Wilmer off the base for the third out. Incidentally Cuyler pulled another one that made the Sox blink. He stole second and proceeded home before Metzler could recover an overthrow and return the ball to the plate.

WAS THAT LAST 5c CIGAR BITTER?

No More Experience Like That If You Smoke This Ripe Tobacco Cigar

No, they're not all alike. There is a difference in five-cent cigars. Many, we admit, are made from scraps, "cuttings," under-ripe top leaves, over-ripe bottom leaves and other low-grade tobacco material. But there's one cigar, men, that's 'way ahead of its price class: Havana Ribbon. And the reason is—It's Ripe Tobacco! No bitterness; no flatness; no short ends to crumble in your mouth. But all long-filler, fully-ripe middle leaves from choice tobacco plants. Man, that does make a smoke! Cool, sweet, mild, fragrant, flavorful—a cigar that makes your nickel ring like it was a silver dime!

Give Havana Ribbon a chance. You'll never stop wondering how a cigar so good can be made for five cents. Also sold in Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The Missionary Exhibition at the church attracted many visitors as also did the lecture on "Our First American Missionary—Adoniram Judson." The various stalls displaying the curios are tastefully arranged and great interest attached to them all. The Chinese Exhibit, kindly lent by Mrs. Beach and Miss Decker with its wonderful Mandarin dresses, etc., attracted much attention while the African collection, with its many curious weapons, telegraph drums articles for agriculture drew delighted comments.

Our War Relic Section, kindly lent by Messrs. Lloyd and Ira Lewis and Rev. Marshall, was a splendid display, while the Porcelain Section of articles loaned by Mrs. Loveland, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Conibear and Mr. Brady was surprising in its variety and beauty. The Reel, kindly lent by Miss Lang, is a specimen of old time hand craft well worth seeing, while the Regency Exhibit and Old Time Communion Vessels, lent by Rev. A. C. Suchting, are exhibits well worthy of a visit.

The Japanese Stall, under the management of Mrs. Porter, is the only one where articles are sold for the benefit of Missionary funds and here the visitor can see articles straight from Japan at reasonable prices to suit everybody.

The lantern lecture tonight at 7:30 p. m. will be about work amongst our own Red Indians and is entitled, "Blazing the Mono Trail." The exhibition is open daily until Friday, from 3:00 p. m. to 5:15 p. m. and again reopens at 6:45 p. m. Admission free.

GRAND DETOUR SERVICE

There will be preaching service in the Grand Detour Christian Church tomorrow evening, conducted by the pastor, B. H. Cleaver of Dixon. Sermon-subject, "The Bible Looking-Glass."

ATTENDED CONFERENCE

The Four-County Convention of Christian Churches which met in Rockford yesterday, carried out the printed program to the letter. Nine of the twelve organizations were represented. Good progress was shown by the reports in all points except evangelism and support of missions, and these departments will be strengthened the coming year. Especially attractive features of this Convention were the regular "Convention Sermon," by A. L. Frost, colored pastor of the Rockford Second Christian Church, and the inspirational address, with which the sessions ended, by the Rev. Dr. W. H. Fulton, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Rockford, who brought a splendid fraternal message, heightened and illustrated by his wide travels and reading.

Next year's convention goes to the Grand Detour Church, and the officers chosen are: Pres. C. W. Marlow, Polo; Vice-president, Mrs. Anna R. Mumma, Mt. Morris; Sec.-Treas. B. H. Cleaver, Dixon.

Eleven delegates attended from the Dixon church. Resolutions were adopted, committing the churches to forward aims for the year, specifying various achievements with gratitude, and pledging loyalty to the whole "dry" campaign, and support of the 18th Amendment.

CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN REVIVAL

The revival by Rev. Stutsman is going and growing and glowing. The True Light is shining. The Spirit is pointing souls toward heaven. Jesus is calling, duty is urging, "the Spirit says Come." Jesus saves.

This evening a delegation from Polo is to be here with assistance in special music. Rev. Stutsman's story for the children will be, "The Shoes of Happiness." And his sermon, "The Confession of a Failure."

In this special effort to build up the work of the Lord in this place it should have the fullest co-operation of every friend of Jesus and those whom He would have saved. The world greatly needs more Christians rather than more church-members.

"Ye Must Be Born Again." The church is the only commissioned institution through which souls are to be born again. We earnestly ask the help of every Christian believer in this greatest of all endeavors—that of winning souls for the Master.

Thursday evening will be Family Night. Let us see how many whole families can be present. The subject for the sermon will be "The Christian Home." Also a story for the children each evening. The children's chorus will sing at the service Thursday evening. Everybody invited to every service.

To Hear Arguments on Jury October 20

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Arguments on the validity of Cook County's special grand jury investigating alleged election irregularities will be heard by the Supreme Court on the last day of the docket call, Saturday, October 20.

The decision today was in the habeas corpus proceedings, in which Charles Ferrill, Negro, a minor figure indicted by the grand jury, was brought before the court last week.

Pending disposition of the case the court set the amount of Ferrill's bail at $5,000 with sureties to be approved by the court.

Credit Men are Told Outlook is Excellent

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Frank D. Rock, president of the National Association of Credit Men, described a "distinctly favorable business outlook" today in addressing the annual meeting of the board of directors of the credit association.

"No signs of disturbing changes are visible on the business horizon," he said. "A special survey in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan indicates business conditions are sound with a noticeable upward trend."

ATHLETICS ENCOURAGED

Shanghai.—(AP)—The Nationalist government of China plans to organize athletic associations in all parts of the country, believing the encouragement of physical education a government function.

The Presidents Question Games

- 1—Where is President Harding buried?
- 2—Did Cleveland believe in "Free Silver?"
- 3—Why was Lincoln called a "minority" President?
- 4—What candidate received the largest popular vote in 1876?
- 5—Name the wife of a President during the present century whose first name was Edith.
- 6—What future President was wounded at Contreras?
- 7—What lady was the most ardent prohibitionist in the White House?
- 8—What President's son was in Garfield's Cabinet?
- 9—What President belonged at different times to the Anti-Masonic and to the Know-Nothing parties?
- 10—What President abandoned a campaign in the August before election?

ANSWERS

- 1—In a memorial tomb at Marion, Ohio.
- 2—No, he insisted in maintaining the gold standard.
- 3—He did not receive a majority of the popular votes in 1860. The vote was: Lincoln, 1,869,352; Douglas, 1,375,157; Breckenridge, 845,763; and Bell, 589,581. Lincoln did, however, have a majority of the votes of the electoral college.

Dependable Operation with a McILVAINE OIL BURNER Safe—

The McILVAINE is 100% safe. There is no gas pilot or electric ignition—no complicated starting and stopping mechanism. The only flame is the oil flame—the only control is the mechanical control of the supply of oil and air. You simply start the McILVAINE in the fall and shut it off in the spring.

Quiet—

A noiseless motor-driven unit supplies a positive feed of air and oil, proportioned and controlled by the McILVAINE Flame Controller. There is no noise or roar caused by a change of temperature because the McILVAINE burns quietly with a continuous even flame.

Clean—

The McILVAINE does away with dust, dirt and soot. The drudgery of coal bin and ash pile is a thing of the past. Clean, quiet, even heat will be yours, if you install this superior type of oil burner.

LETTER GOLF

DOWN ON THE FARM

Down on the farm this time of the year, you're thinking about starting to SMOKE MEATS. It is a tricky process in letter golf, as well. Par is seven and one solution is on page 9.

SMOKE

THE RULES

1.—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2.—You can change only one letter at a time.

3.—You must have a complete word, if common usage, for each pump. Using words and abbreviations don't count.

4.—The order of letters cannot be changed.

One solution is printed on page 9

HOOVER ALPHABET

RIGHT: Hoover Stands Up for It

Standing up for the Right is not a theory with Hoover. In all of the questions that have arisen during his career he was not only always found on the side of Right, but he made in his business to fight for it. Some of his heaviest tasks for which he received only gratitude as a reward were those he assumed solely from his devotion to the Right. Facing all of the diplomats and generals of Europe after the armistice he declared: "There is no right in the law of God or man why we should continue to starve neutrals now that the war is over." Standing firmly upon this declaration he won the right to feed them and untold thousands in Europe owe their lives to his firm stand for Right. We need a President with a conscience like that.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

AUTUMN IN ILLINOIS

Time is on the autumn yellow. Short will be the golden days, Sad and short the glory mellow. Of the calm October haze.

Paint for me the glory dying, Swift must ply the pencil bold That would seize the splendors flying. O'er the autumn's cloth of gold.

Up the rugged-edged horizon, Catch the changes as they creep, On chromatic ridges rising, From the valley-shadows deep.

Purple-mantled sits the mountain, Cushioned on the yellow vale; Silver-stemmed beside the fountain, Gleams the lamp of birch-tree pale.

Through the golden, hazy reaches, Radiant bars of sun-light come, Slanting down among the beeches, Where the wood-grouse rolls his drum.

In the trembling light the spruces, Waver on the hill-sides old, Revellers in velvet raiment, Overlaid with larchen gold.

Oh! like dreaming is the gleaming Of the autumn-tinted hills; Sketches darker grows their beaming While thy hand the picture fills.

Passing is the autumn yellow, Short will be the golden days Of the Indian Summer mellow, And the bright October haze.

For the wild-fowl's trumpet ringing, Over-head the silence breaks, See the phalanx southward winging From the marshy northern lakes.

Clouds are curling, smoke is whirling, Rain is in the driving racks, Comes a hand the dead leaves hurling, Dreary days are on our tracks.

MONEY TO LOAN. COST REDUCED. Almost One-Third ON LOANS $10 TO $300. The Household Finance Corporation, by reason of large volume of business, efficient management, and favorable credit facilities, attained after fifty years of operation, is now making a very substantial reduction in the cost of loans up to $300. You can borrow from us for about one-third less than you formerly charged, and about one-third less than the maximum lawful rate. For example, total cost on $50 for one month is $1.25; for five months, paid in five equal monthly payments, is $3.75. All other amounts up to $300 at the same proportionate rate. If you have a loan elsewhere, let us explain our new reduced rate and tell you how much you will save by borrowing from us. You get the money without delay, return it in small monthly payments arranged to suit your convenience. Each payment of principal reduces the interest. No Endorsers. No one need know. Checkmate Plot to Bomb Judges' Home. Chicago, Oct. 10.—(AP)—A bomb plot against two Chicago judges, one a candidate for State's Attorney on the Democratic ticket was checkmated today.

Judge William J. Lindsay of the Superior Court, candidate for State's Attorney, and Judge John H. Lyle, Municipal Judge, were given police protection following revelations which police said indicated the homes of both men had been marked for bombs.

The plot was reported by Robert Maxwell, who told of overhearing three men on an elevated train whispering about "a job of tossing pinapples" at the homes of the judges. Maxwell followed the men from the elevated train until they entered a closed sedan without license plates and were driven away by a fourth man.

Judge Lindsey's Republican opponent for State's Attorney is Circuit Judge John A. Swanson, whose home was bombed shortly before the April 10 primary election. Judge Lyle is presumed to have aroused gangster ire by the imposition of high bonds in criminal cases.

THIS HAS HAPPENED SYBIL THORNE, Boston society girl, has had a dramatic and tragic life. When she was young she fell desperately in love with a soldier—JOHN LAWRENCE, who went to France with the A. E. F. on the very eve of their marriage—and never returned.

Years later Sybil married RICHARD EUSTIS, philanthropist and adventurer, after a five-day courtship. They lived together only two weeks. A son was born, whom Sybil named for her own dead father. When little TEDDY was a year old, Sybil decided to divorce her husband. It was a highly sensational case. Eustis, in return, brought suit against Sybil for breach of promise, alleging alienation of Sybil's affections. Craig had loved Sybil tenderly and devotedly for years, but was guilty of Eustis' contentions.

Finally the day comes to bring all to court. Sybil sits with her family, awaiting the arrival of her husband. Suddenly tragic death brings Richard Eustis to his bench. Richard Eustis, mortally wounded from New Haven with his automobile, is killed in an automobile accident.

Sybil's friends and family and neighbors her friends and neighbors, all to court. Sybil sits with her family, awaiting the arrival of her husband. BARBOUR ATTACKS FLOYD THOMPSON'S RECORD IN SPEECH

Directly Links Former Justice With Looney and Chief Cox

Rock Island, Ill., Oct. 10.—State Senator James J. Barbour of Evans-ton, in a sensational speech here last night vigorously attacked Floyd E. Thompson's official record as State's Attorney of Rock Island County from 1912 to 1919 by directly linking him with John Looney and Chief of Police, Tom Cox, who were leaders of the vice ring which ruled this city for so many years.

Senator Barbour assisted Attorney General Brundage in the prosecution of the Looney gang in 1922 and, he declared, he therefore spoke from first-hand knowledge. He said Thompson as State's Attorney never made a move to crush the vice ring. He discussed Thompson's denials of these charges and said they were refuted by the facts and the court records of the Rock Island graft trials.

He declared that Thompson when he first ran for Illinois Supreme Court Justice was actively supported by Looney and Cox, who collected a large sum for his campaign fund from the Rock Island underworld. Senator Barbour said that Thompson, even after he had been elevated to the state supreme court, indicated his interest in the case of his friend Tom Cox, who was granted a new trial by the higher tribunal on a technicality.

Senator Barbour said in part: "The Democratic candidate for Governor claims that he cleaned up Rock Island and helped to end the reign of John Looney. He did neither."

"To demonstrate this assertion it is necessary to review John Looney's career in this city. Whenever he was here, whether in person or by proxy, John Looney's influence and operations. His most effective instructions made for monstrously evil comment was the Rock Island News—a newspaper always filled with the grossest obscenity and filth."

"In 1912 this blackguarding sheet devoted two successive issues to a scandalous, obscene, libelous and untrue writup of the Mayor of Rock Island."

"The Mayor's answer to this unpleasant notoriety was to summon John Looney to the police station and upon his arrival there Looney was beaten up and then sent to the hospital to recover from his hurts, and the Rock Island News was immediately suppressed by the police."

"Riots followed and as an aftermath of these events, Looney was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury at Peoria for sending obscene matter through the mails. To this charge Looney pleaded guilty, and upon his promise that he would leave the City of Rock Island forever, he was let off with a fine of $500 and John Looney did absent himself from your city for a matter of four or five years."

"The present candidate for Governor on the Democratic ticket had not the slightest connection with any of these gestures against Looney. Thompson never made a move against Looney or Looneyism during the years that he was State's Attorney."

"Vice was rampant in Rock Island during those years. It flourished in spite of those State Laws that declared vice and its encouragement criminal, imposed penalties on offenders, and made officials who permit its existence guilty of malfeasance and misfeasance in office. Rock Island became such a plague spot that vice conditions were condemned by your Chamber of Commerce and were further denounced by United States Secretary of War Baker, in a communication to Governor Lowden. But the record is silent as to any attempts to suppress vice or to clean up Rock Island by State's Attorney Thompson. The underworld crowd plied its nefarious business in road houses outside the five mile zone established by the federal government during the war, and the city limits, but inside the limits of Rock Island County. These road houses and prostitution and booze selling could not have been carried on except as they were tolerated by Floyd Thompson, State's Attorney."

"Judge Thompson is probably this very day before audiences somewhere in Illinois making vociferous denial of the charges against him of being a slacker in the War, and a lax law enforcement officer tolerating rampant vice against the protests of the United States Secretary of War."

"Judge Thompson says he was responsible for the Rock Island cleanup conducted under the auspices of Attorney General Brundage. The fact is that his help in the Rock Island cleanup, either as citizen or Judge, was zero, minus."

"At the very inception of the movement, the gangsters and corrupt officials became terror-stricken. The friends of the guilty sought to belittle and hamper the work that the citizens had undertaken, and Floyd Thompson, resident Supreme Court Justice, did his mite for the terror-stricken bunch of law breakers by delivering a speech in which he characterized the fearless leaders of the Citizens' movement as 'purity leaguers.'"

"It is far from my purpose to say anything that could be construed as a reflection on the Supreme Court as a Court, because there is nothing to justify such an inference. But it is Floyd Thompson's desire that we should interpret his assertions as meaning that he helped the Rock Island prosecutions in every legitimate way possible as a member of the Supreme Court, I reply that the course of events do not bear out Mr. Thompson's claims."

"It may simply be a coincident, but so long as the reath of life lingered in the frail body of Thomas Cox, the special prosecutors in the Rock Island Citizens' crusade fared badly at the hands of Supreme Court Justice Thompson so far as the prosecution of Looney's fellow conspirators were concerned. Thompson has vigorously asserted that John Looney was not present in Rock Island while he was State's Attorney. Looney's paper was suppressed in 1912, but its publication was resumed in 1917 while Floyd Thompson was State's Attorney. While Thompson allowed its publication and sale to continue in your midst, the authorities of the State of Iowa indicted and convicted John Looney's Chief Aid for a criminal libel contained in that paper and Looney's man, Dan Drost, served a sentence of one year in Scott County jail. But there were no prosecutions not attempts to suppress organized Looney vice or Looney's exponent of vice, the Rock Island News, in the courts of your County by Floyd Thompson while he was State's Attorney."

"It would have been just as easy for State's Attorney Thompson to have cleaned up Rock Island in 1917 when the Federal authorities were urging him to take action, as it was for Attorney General Brundage to do it in the Fall of 1922."

"The rivalry that sprang up between Billburg and Looney for control of the vice ring was the legitimate outgrowth of the conditions which had their infamous start while Floyd Thompson was State's Attorney."

"Tom Cox and his associates were convicted of conspiracy in April 1922. The case was reversed in April 1924 on a technicality. Floyd Thompson, Associate Judge of the Supreme Court, joined in that opinion, and I say that so far as he was personally concerned the reversal of that case was in no sense a contribution to the cause of justice in the State of Illinois."

"I state it to be a fact that Floyd Thompson, after his friend, Tom Cox, had been sentenced to the penitentiary and the case had been concluded in the Circuit Court and long after the period when it was proper or legal to make any further representations to either the Circuit Court or the Supreme Court of the State in favor of the defendants in that trial, Floyd Thompson permitted the representatives of Tom Cox to come to his office with one of the members of the jury that had returned the verdict of guilty in that case; and the Judge permitted it to be represented to him by this juror that he had signed the verdict only because of coercion that was exerted on him in the jury room and because of threats that if he did not sign and find the defendants guilty he would be not alone compelled to leave the town, but that his own wife and family would disown him. Floyd Thompson claimed to be terribly shocked by this disclosure and asserted that it was indicative of a mob spirit and an aroused public feeling that dominated the entire community to such an extent that a fair trial could not be had in Rock Island for his friend, Tom Cox and his associates.

"I say to you that this conduct on the part of Floyd Thompson was utterly disgraceful and such that no self-respecting Judge could be guilty of. It would of itself be proper grounds for his impeachment, because no Judge would have the right to listen to, consider and be moved by representations that were made to him that were outside of the record, which was the only thing where he would have the right as an Appellate Judge to consider, the more espe-

The new Buick is the new Style

Nowhere such beauty and luxury ---- nowhere such pleasing lines and contours ---- nowhere Bodies that equal these new Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher--The entire country is saying, "That's the Style"

Setting an entirely new, a revolutionary, style--introducing what will unquestionably be the trend of smart body-design during the next several years--the new Bodies of the Silver Anniversary Buick are enjoying universal acclaim as the most original and distinctive, as well as the finest and most beautiful ever created by the world-famous Fisher organization!

Here is not only a new car but a new vogue—a vogue of symmetry, born of gently rounded contours instead of plain straight lines—a vogue of distinction, derived from sparkling colors, brilliant chrome-plated nickel and arresting new roof, radiator and fender design—a vogue of tasteful luxury, composed of finest mohair velvet upholstery, artistic hardware and fittings and new appointments of comfort and convenience not to be found in any other automobile——and the vogue is proving so popular—the motoring public welcoming it so enthusiastically—that this beautiful new Buick continues to outsell all other cars above the very lowest price field by an overwhelming margin!

The entire country is hailing the Silver Anniversary Buick. The entire country is saying, "That's the style!"
